THE FASCINATING CAREER OF "MISS PETTICOATS."

The heroine of this famous play caught the attention of the play-going public immediately on its production at the great Boston theater, and made a pronounced hit because of her very original and charming personality. When first dramatized from the book and produced at the Boston theater about five years ago, it scored an immense success, and the critics were unanimous in pronouncing it "a strong emotional play, full of wholesome comedy and a quaint wit, that appeals to an old theater-goer." Therein was the secret of the success of Miss Petticoats. It pleased the old habitue of the theater, who is looking for, a new sensation, and found in this original play that pungent, spicy atmosphere which is like the real New England people themselves, where the play was laid. No more interesting scenes can be imagined than the shores of an old whaling port like New Bedford, where in the quaint cabin home of a derelict whaler Agath Renier, called "Miss Petticoats" as a pet name by her grandfather, made her home, until brought into the high and mighty seats of the rich. She graduates even from that set to the artistic circles of Paris, where as the Countess Fornay she creates a sensation, and finally returning to her native home, triumphs over all her former enemies, who have made her life interesting to her and the audience. There are many droll and unique characters peculiar to New England, who furnish great fun and frolic, that give the play a delightfully fresh environment. A powerful company, who carry their own new and artistic scenery descriptive of these fascinating scenes, will present "Miss Petticoats" at the New Milford Opera house on Thursday, April 1, under the auspices of Good Shepherd lodge, No. 65, I. O. O. F. Tickets now on sale at Noble's drug store.

INTERESTING NO-LICENSE CAMPAIGN ON.

New Milford people will be interested in the fact that a great effort is being made by the no-license people to again place Great Barrington, Mass., in the dry column, but there is also quite an effort being made by the license people to carry the town, and the outcome will be watched with interest. Strong arguments are being presented by both sides, and the question is being well discussed. There has been erected in Great Barrington and Housatonic a billboard for the use of the no-license workers, which is something that has not been done for years. Sunday night a no-license rally was held in the Methodist church. A great amount of literature has been sent to the voters through the mail in favor of the "no" vote.

Mr and Mrs Charles Planz have a son, born Monday night.

Charles I. Leach, the Church street grocer, calls your attention to the "Occident" special patent flour which is now on sale at his store. This flour is the result of years of experimenting, based on the belief that a flour of extra high quality is appreciably better than any other on the market and would sell at a little higher price than the regular patents. The results have proven that the theory was correct. The extravagant buyer does not care for the extra cost, provided he receives the extra quality, and the economical buyer readily sees the economy: that is, bread at a slightly increased cost is still the cheapest food on the table and better bread mean a greater consumption of cheap foods and a smaller consumption of the more expensive foods, and the extra price which the consumer is willing to pay, enables the millers to make a higher grade flour. Mr Leach has just been able to introduce the "Occident" and guarantees that it is superior to all others in purity, flavor, color, fine loaf texture, and general goodness. "Occident" costs a trifle more than other flours.

DESPICABLE WORK.

Last Saturday night some one broke into a hen house belonging to Edward Peterman and killed a number of his hens by wringing their necks, and then left leaving the dead fowls lying on the ground. We could tolerate a hungry man stealing a chicken to eat but when one does such things for spite or on account of the meanness of their disposition a little neck wringing would be good for them.

Don't Put It Off.

If you have been thinking about getting a Manure Spreader but haven't got to it before, don't put it off, but do it this spring. Fertilizer is higher than ever, and help is hard to get. The spreader will save you money on both of these items. It is of as much value to you this year as it ever will be again. When you are buying you will surely want the best, and that one is the Worcester Kemp.

They are a well built spreader, made to stand on hilly, rough land. The new "Simplex Drive" makes them the easiest running spreader on the market. They spread the manure evenly over the ground, which insures an even crop. Come around and look them over.
